Lunch and Learn

What is a Lunch and Learn? Lunch and Learns are an opportunity to learn skills in a quick and casual context. We provide lunch, and while you eat, a presenter will provide you with information about a topic to enhance your competencies as a faculty member.

How to Teach Your Students to Be Effective When Dealing With Bullying and Harassment

Facilitated by Moussa Magassa

This interactive and practical workshop provides space for us to share and brainstorm ideas about how to teach your students to be effective when dealing with bullying and harassment in the hospital or the clinical setting.

Tuesday, February 6, 2018
12:00 pm – 1:00 pm
Medical Sciences Building (MSB)
UVic Campus, Room 108
Lunch will be provided

Register Now!

Following this workshop, participants will be able to:

- Identify different types and causes of bullying and harassment in the learning environment
- Assess the impacts of bullying and harassment on the learning environment and individuals
- Develop strategies, both individual and systemic, to prevent address bullying and harassment in the learning environment

Moussa Magassa is an instructor in a variety of programs including: Social Justice, Royal Roads University's M.A in Global Leadership, UBC's Center for Intercultural Communication, and UVic’s Intercultural Education and Diploma. In his role as UVic’s Human Rights Educator, Moussa’s focus is on enhancing understanding of and commitment to the university's human rights and equity goals. Moussa works to raise awareness of a range of human rights issues with the goals of both increasing diversity, as well as creating inclusive work and study environments.

Workshop coordinated by Dr. Sarah Buydens, Regional Faculty Development Director, Vancouver Island