Team Player Fundamentals

Presented by Randy Kennett

There is a big difference between being just a team member and being an active team player. This half day workshop provides participants the opportunity to calibrate and align on the four foundational active team player fundamentals for long-term, successful, and productive working relationships: choosing positive attitudes, being intentionally open-minded, acting with respect, and taking accountability.

Saturday, March 10th, 2018

Registration and Breakfast: 8:00 a.m. – 8:30 a.m.
Workshop: 8:30 am – 12:15 p.m.
Catch the Wave winners and reception: 12:15 p.m. – 12:45 p.m.
Medical Sciences Building (MSB), UVic, Room 150

Register Now!

Following this workshop, participants will be able to:

- Recognize that attitudes are a mindset and choice
- Distinguish how to be intentionally open-minded
- Assess and be mindful of respectful behaviours
- Take personal accountability and the responsibility to help others with team player fundamentals
- Prioritize and generate commitments for team effectiveness

With over 20 years of leadership experience in North America and internationally, Randy Kennett coaches, consults, facilitates and trains teams and leaders from organizations of all sizes in the public, private and nonprofit sectors, including Fortune 500 companies. He is a post-secondary instructor and principal of Hone Consulting with the service promise of building leadership and team capacity through proven, researched and evidence-based training, coaching and facilitation services. In addition to his background in adult education, business and human resources, Randy is a Registered Corporate Coach™, Accredited Facilitator, and Certified Psychological Health and Safety Advisor. To learn more about Randy, please visit http://honeconsulting.com/about.

Workshop coordinated by Dr. Sarah Buydens, Regional Faculty Development Director, Vancouver Island